President Asks 15 Per Cent Cut in Tariffs

Eisenhower Also Promises to End 'Giveaway' Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today for power to cut tariffs 15 per cent to strengthen the economy of the nation and the free world.

In a 4,500-word message on foreign trade policy, Mr. Eisenhower also promised to end giveaway economic aid for other nations "as soon as possible" consistent with our national interest. He favored loans instead.

His chief recommendation calls for a three-year extension of the reciprocal trade program, now scheduled to expire next June 12, with added authority for him to cut tariffs 5 per cent each year.

He urged "a greater exchange of peaceful goods between East and West... so far as it can be achieved without jeopardizing national security." But he would not use the curbs on strategic trade nor the total embargo on U. S. shipments to Red China and North Korea.

Need World Markets

"For our own economic growth we must have continuously expanding world markets; for our security we require that our allies become economically strong," he said.

The national interest, the President said, demands "the highest possible level of trade and most efficient use of capital and resources."

"That this would also strengthen our military allies adds urgency," he said. "Their strength is of critical importance to the security of our country."

If the United States fails in its trade policy, "we mail fail in all," he warned.

Four Objectives

Mr. Eisenhower outlined four main objectives: Trade expansion, curtailment of foreign aid, encouragement of private U. S. investment abroad and support of steps to make it possible for foreign currencies to be changed into dollars freely.

But he faced a tough fight to get his program through Congress. Opponents of controversial features, such as more tariff cuts, include powerful Republican congressmen.

Mr. Eisenhower accepted without change virtually all the recommendations made two months ago by a special bipartisan commission headed by Clarence B. Randall, Inland Steel board chairman. Randall stayed on as a presidential consultant to help draft Mr. Eisenhower's message to Congress on foreign trade policy.

Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) of the House Ways and Means Committee, and a commission member, dissented vigorously from the Commission's majority report. And Randall said at a news conference Monday that there had been no indication Reed has changed his mind.

Enfield Man is Found Guilty of Manslaughter

CARMI, Ill. (AP)—An 11-man jury early today found Raleigh Williams, 34, Enfield, guilty of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of White County Deputy Sheriff Lowell Proctor, 62, last Dec. 26.

The jury received the case shortly after 3 p. m. Monday and returned its verdict at 2 a. m. today.

Special Prosecutor Ivan A. Elliott Sr. asked the jury to find Williams guilty of murder and the state sought the death penalty for the shooting. Williams will be formally sentenced to 7 to 12 years in prison later by Circuit Judge Caswell Crebs.

Williams claimed in his testimony that Proctor shot at him first after coming up to Williams' car and ordering him and Otis Wrenn out of the auto without identifying himself as an officer.

Other witnesses said Williams fired first at the deputy, who sought to arrest Williams and Wrenn for allegedly disturbing the peace.

Former State Legion Commander Dies

AURORA, Ill. (AP)—Leonard G. Applequist, 62, former commander of the Illinois department of the American Legion, died late Monday in St. Joseph hospital of a heart attack.

Applequist was the secretary of the Elks lodge, a full time position he held for more than 30 years.

He enlisted in the Army at the start of World War II and served two years overseas.

Spring Storm Blankets Wide Belt of U. S. with 16 Inches of Snow; 21 Dead

By United Press

A spring storm that pulled a blanket of snow up to 16 inches deep over a wide band of territory from Wyoming to Maine left at least 21 persons dead today.

The storm, which began in the Plains States Sunday and rolled eastward Monday, was diminishing. Early today the heavy snow had stopped and the cold front was spewing freezing rain, sleet and showers over much of the East.

In many areas of the Midwest, light powder snow dusted the deep, wet blanket left by the big storm. The snowstorm left 16 inches of new snow and four persons dead at Rochester, N. Y. Six persons died at Buffalo, N. Y., when that city was buried under 13 inches of snow. Most of the deaths were caused by over-exertion in fighting the storm.

U. S. Carries Out Second H-Bomb Test in Pacific

Goes Ahead with Program Despite Criticism Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new H-bomb explosion served notice on the world today that the United States is going ahead with its awesome thermonuclear tests in spite of sharp criticism in Europe and the Far East.

In a press announcement late Monday, the Atomic Energy Commission said the second in the current series of hydrogen tests was "successfully carried out" last Friday.

It was the third thermonuclear explosion in U. S. history. It came just 26 days after a titanic H-bomb blast sent radioactive dust down on 379 persons in the Pacific and touched off demands in some countries that the tests be stopped.

Commission Chairman Lewis L. Strauss, just back from the Pacific proving grounds, revealed in the AEC announcement that planes "carefully searched" the Bikini-Eniwetok area to make sure there would be no accidental victims of radiation Friday.

But he made it plain the tests will not be halted. "Information highly important to national defense is being derived from this test series," he said.

Third Test Scheduled

Congressional sources indicated today that a third test in the current series has been scheduled. And some members of the Senate-Atomic Energy Committee already are making plans to fly to the Pacific for the biggest blast of the series, expected the latter half of April, weather permitting.

One Congressional source reported that the Friday explosion was "not as big as the last one" March 1. This fits in with information from other sources that scientists in the current tests are trying to develop better quality rather than bigger blasts.

The March 1 test was not of an H-bomb in the sense of a weapon easily delivered by plane. It was too big for that. But at least one shot in the series—possibly the one that took place Friday—was supposed to involve a deliverable H-bomb, congressional sources said.

Members of the atomic committee hoped to get more information at a closed-door meeting today but a committee source indicated little if anything they find out will be disclosed.

TOKYO (AP)—New fears of atom dusting and damage to the fishing industry swept Japan today following the announcement that a second U. S. hydrogen bomb explosion was set off last Friday in the Marshall Islands.

The "atomic jitters" were reflected in Japanese newspaper dispatches, despite immediate denials from the coast guard and Foreign Office of any reports indicating that fishermen were in the danger area of the latest thermonuclear explosion.

A headline in the influential newspaper Mainichi said, "Japan not informed of 2nd H-test."

Dulles Urges United Action In Indochina

Believe Allies Will Be Asked to Join in Warning to Red China

WASHINGTON (AP)—Diplomats today interpreted a U. S. proposal for united action against Asiatic communism as a bid for an Allied warning that the Chinese Reds will be hit hard if they try any more aggression.

The words "united action" were the key to a major policy speech delivered by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in New York Monday night.

It had been cleared in advance at the White House and called to the attention of ambassadors of key allies who would be concerned with any bold new Asiatic policy.

First reaction in London was a new case of jitters over the possibility that any muscle-flexing might lead to more serious consequences.

A Foreign Office spokesman said Britain will "seek discussions" to clarify what Dulles has in mind. The conservative London Daily Express nervously asked: "Do we face Korea No. 2?"

In France the right-wing morning newspaper L'Aurore looked upon it as a possible hope for more help in their long and expensive war with the Communist rebels in Indochina. It raised the question of whether Dulles' speech means "relief for our troops after seven years of French sacrifice."

The help Red China has given the Indochinese rebels was one of the main targets of Dulles' attack. He bluntly accused the Chinese Communists of backing the war in Indochina and of aiming at control of all Southeast Asia. He said it posed a "grave threat to the whole free community."

Wanting Peace Is Not Enough

"The United States feels that that possibility should not be passively accepted but should be met by united action," he continued. "This might involve serious risks. But these risks are far less than those that will face us a few years from now if we dare not be resolute today."

Dulles didn't explain what he meant by "united action." But he apparently considered it important for normally helpful State Department officials refused to explain and key Allied ambassadors were alerted for the passage in advance.

Allied diplomats are expected to ask for an official clarification. Meanwhile, however, informants assume Dulles is thinking of an Allied warning similar to last year's 16-nation declaration on Korea. Then, the Allies warned of the "grave consequences" of a breach of the truce.

Dulles has issued a warning like this against any Red China intervention in Indochina. Diplomatic sources believe the "united action" statement is a move to get Britain, France and others to join in it and bolster the Allied position for the April 26 Geneva peace conference with Russia and Red China.

In his speech Monday night, Dulles said the free world wants peace but added that wanting it is not enough.

"Peace has to be worked for and planned for," he said. "Sometimes it is necessary to take risks to win peace just as it is necessary to take risks to win victory. The chances for peace are usually bettered by letting a potential aggressor know in advance where his aggression could lead him."

Honor Students Are Entertained By Rotary Club

High school and junior high students who stood first in their respective classes the past six weeks were special guests of the Rotary club at its weekly dinner meeting last night.

Following the meal, Rotarians H. B. Bauman and Louie Beltz presented the students. Those receiving the high school were Judy Reynolds, freshman; Diana Mathis, sophomore; Judy Morse and Joan Zuanella, juniors; and Tom Cole, senior. Two high school honor students—Charles Cummins, freshman, and James Govan, senior, were unable to attend.

The junior high students were Janet Jahn, eighth grade, and Donnie Beggs, seventh.

In the absence of the president, Bert Gaskins presided over the business meeting. Plans were made to accept an invitation extended by the Zeigler Rotarians for Thursday, April 8 at 6:30 p. m.

In view of this meeting, it was voted to cancel next Monday night's regular meeting here.

Millard (Pusher) Lynch was in charge of the program. He had arranged for the group to tour the local television station. The group adjourned to that site, watching live and film telecasting and enjoying a tour through the studio.

GOP Candidates for Senate Urge Cut in Foreign Aid, Lower Food Prices

CHICAGO (AP)—Candidates for the GOP senatorial nomination have called for a cut in foreign aid, lower food prices, and lifting of the federal tax burden on the states.

Joseph T. Meek said at Hinsdale Monday night that foreign aid should be trimmed so the U. S. budget can be balanced.

"Why should we go into the red," Meek asked, "in order to keep these countries in the black?"

Edward A. Hayes told the White-side County Republican Women's Club that the price of food and other essentials should be brought down as inflation levels off.

Edgar M. Elbert, speaking at Springfield, said the federal government should release some of its tax sources to the states.

"Close to 28 per cent of the total personal income of all people in Illinois in 1952 went to the federal government," Elbert said, "leaving the state and local taxing bodies holding an empty bag."

Austin L. Wyman issued a statement saying that only a whole-hearted supporter of President Eisenhower's overall program could win the Senate seat in November. He said he endorses the President's program.

Herbert F. Geisler named Meek, Hayes, Wyman and Park Livingston as Republican nominees who bear "a special interest label." He said their views are "outdated, biased and uninformed."

The Citizens for Eisenhower Primary Committee announced it has arranged a series of television appearances for Wyman in Chicago and downstate.

The 19th Ward Women's Republican Club, one of the largest in Cook county, has given its support to Meek in the primary, Meek's campaign headquarters said.

The Bloomington Daily Pantagraph Monday supported Meek as the man "who stands the best chance of winning and keeping the support of big and little people all over Illinois." The Chicago Tribune endorsed Meek Sunday.

Sen. Douglas

Condemns

GOP Tax Theory

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—U. S. Sen. Paul H. Douglas has charged the Republicans favor tax advantages for the wealthy in hopes prosperity will "trickle down to the less fortunate people."

Douglas condemned the "trickle down" theory of economics Monday in a speech before an audience of 500 Illinois Democratic women.

"I believe that prosperity must be built from the bottom up. It can't be poured in at the top and trickled down to the people," he said. Douglas said GOP tax cuts now proposed will benefit only 20 per cent of the people.

He said the Republicans believe the cutting of excise taxes on luxury items and lowering of tax burdens of big business will stimulate industrial expansion.

"But it won't work because the present industrial capacity is turning out more goods than can be sold," he said. "Business now has idle plant space and surplus labor running out its ears."

Penny Wise, Pound Foolish

He said a Democratic tax plan would stimulate more business by aiding the "common people."

He called for raising the individual income tax exemption from $600 to $800. "This would mean a pay increase of 8 cents an hour for the average family of four," he said.

"This money will be spent for goods that will stimulate prosperity and employment," he said.

Katie Louchheim, director of women's activities for the Democratic National Committee, said the Republicans have been "penny wise and pound foolish" since winning control of the government.

She told the Illinois Democratic women that while unemployment increased and farm income dropped, the GOP administration was busy cutting funds for housing, education and public health.

Carroll Clark Heads Area Student Councils

Eighty students and faculty members, representing seven high schools, attended the first semi-annual meeting of the Area One Association of Student Councils at Carrier Mills Community high school Monday.

Area One Association, recently organized, takes in four counties, Saline, Gallatin, White and Hamilton, but only Saline and White counties were represented at this first meeting. There were representatives present from Norris City, Carmi, Enfield, Grayville, Galatia, Harrisburg and the host school, Carrier Mills.

The meeting got underway at 4:45 p. m. with registration and general assembly at 5. Following the opening ceremony the constitution of the association was explained by Frank Chase of Harrisburg, an officer in the state organization.

After a break for dinner, served at Santy's cafe across from the high school, the group again met at the school for group discussions, election of officers and business meeting.

Elected officers are Carroll Clark, Harrisburg, president; Judy Crocker, Grayville, vice president; and Elizabeth Austin, Norris City, secretary.

The next meeting will be at the Carmi high school.

A recreational hour of games and dancing was enjoyed following adjournment of the formal meeting.

H. C. Shelton is

Injured in Crash

On Highway 34

H. C. Shelton was hospitalized Monday afternoon following a wreck on Route 34, about 4 miles south of Harrisburg, Sheriff Paul Spangler reported today.

The wreck occurred, it was reported, when Shelton, driving north on Route 34 attempted to pass a truck driven by Bert Driskell, also travelling north.

As the Shelton automobile passed the truck it turned over when it sideswiped a 1953 pickup truck, travelling south, driven by Vinson Foe of Golconda.

Tommy Flemings and Donald Mayberry were in the car with Shelton and Mrs. Foe was with her husband, but only Shelton was injured and his injuries were thought to be serious.

The wreck was investigated by Sheriff Spangler and Deputy Sheriff Isham Threest.

Easter Seal Society

Conducting Drive to

Aid Crippled Children

The Southern Illinois Association For The Crippled, Inc., the Easter Seal Society, is now conducting its annual drive for funds to help the crippled children of southern Illinois.

Mrs. J. J. Klein, president of the Harrisburg Woman's club, reports 5,000 letters mailed into the county. The local mailing was handled by this club.

Funds raised from Easter Seal contributions are now providing speech therapy for the physically handicapped and camperships to the yearly crippled children's camp. It is hoped that an increase in contributions this year will enable the Easter Seal society to add to its program physical therapy services.

The drive officially ends each year on Easter Sunday.

10 Others Are Injured at Fort Bragg Base

Flying Boxcar Sought Emergency Landing in Troop Area

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—An Air Force "Flying Boxcar," attempting an emergency landing with one engine blazing, clipped a barracks building and then smashed into a mess hall in a crowded troop area here today.

At least eight men were believed killed. Five bodies were recovered and three men were missing and believed dead. At least 10 others were injured, including three who were dragged from the flaming wreckage moments after the crash.

Both the plane and the mess hall were engulfed in flames, which burned for more than an hour after the crash, which occurred shortly before 10 a. m.

Nine men were aboard the giant troop carrier plane that struck the roof of a barracks as its pilot tried heroically to make an emergency crash-landing on a parade ground adjoining the mess hall.

Pilot Critically Hurt

An undetermined number of men, possibly a dozen, were inside the mess hall.

The plane carried a crew of four airmen and five Army passengers. The known dead include five Army men, three of them soldiers in the mess hall.

The injured included four men from the plane and six from the mess hall.

The pilot of the C119 escaped death, but was "critically injured," Pope AFB said.

Wreckers moved in to begin pulling the burned timbers of the wrecked mess hall off the plane, which plowed under the roof of the building in a dizzy skid across a parade ground after it struck the roof of a barracks.

A tail section was ripped off as the giant plane struck the roof of a bachelor officers quarters as the pilot tried frantically for a crash landing on the 400-yard long parade ground.

Sought Parade Ground Landing

A witness said he could see the pilot pulling back at the controls as the plane roared in over the "Smoke Bomb Hill" troop concentration area.

"He was trying to avoid hitting the barracks and to get in at the best angle for a landing on the parade ground," the officer said.

The plane had appeared out of low scattered clouds from the south with its left engine aflame and "histing badly," 1st Lt. Morris Beschloss said.

After hitting the top of the barracks, the plane plunged across the parade ground at an angle, it skidded 75 to 100 feet into the mess hall, striking the end of the building and plowing into it. The roof caved in on the plane and both plane and mess hall exploded in flames. The wreckage burned furiously for more than an hour.

The troop area is filled with barracks buildings and officers

Three Motorists

Fined for Running

School Lights

Three motorists were arrested by city police and fined in police magistrate court Monday for running school safety lights, Chief Loren Travelstead stated this morning.

Two of the arrests were made at noon and the third in the afternoon.

Chief Travelstead also revealed three young men were picked up by the police and questioned regarding a prank Sunday night near the Junior high school.

They admitted rolling a barrel of tar, used on construction of the new Junior high school building, onto Webster street, creating a traffic hazard. The three were released following a lecture by police, but Travelstead warned that such acts in the future would result in arrests.

The three were apprehended on a tip given police by neighbors who saw them rolling the barrel into the street and were able to get the license number of the car the men drove away in.

"They Were Here a Minute Ago"

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Republicans Comb California For Erring Democrat; U. S. Attorney In L. A. Is "Out To Get" Rep. King; Two Johnsons Joust For Office Of California Treasurer.

LOS ANGELES — The California arm of Herbert Brownell's Justice Department is now playing it rough, tough and with a cold eye to political business. It is busy looking over the record of several California congressmen in order to find a Democratic Bramble. Congressman Ernest Bramblett, a Republican, was recently convicted for taking salary kickbacks, which gave the GOP a black eye in California, and U. S. attorneys in California would like to find a Democrat to counterbalance it.

They are calling their shots very carefully, because a few votes in the House of Representatives next November may spell the difference between Republican or Democratic control. Here is how the GOP strategy shapes up.

No. 1 — U. S. attorneys are considering the indictment of Congressman Robert Condon of Walnut Creek, Calif., on a charge of perjury. Condon, whose law firm once represented Communists, has testified to this effect, but has stated that he was never a member of the Communist party. Although Condon convinced his congressional colleagues that he was telling the truth, Justice Department officials have been considering a perjury case against him. They will probably hold it up, however, until late summer or early fall just before elections.

No. 2 — Justice Department officials have combed the record of Congressman Jack Shelley of San Francisco, a member of the Teamsters Union, who was a friend of former Collector of Internal Revenue James Smythe, indicted in connection with income tax scandals, but never convicted. A search of Congressman Shelley's record, however, proved fruitless.

No. 3 — Meanwhile, U. S. Attorney Laughlin Waters in Los Angeles has shown every indication that he is out to get Congressman Cecil King, Democrat, of Los Angeles. King is the second-ranking Democrat member of the congressional delegation from California and any action against him would have important political reverberations.

WRONG MRS. KING
Recently, the U. S. attorney's office in Los Angeles subpoenaed King's bank record from the Riggs bank in Washington; also that of Mrs. King, whose first name is Louise, but whose nickname is "Gert." Both bank accounts failed to show any substantial deposits. The U. S. attorney then subpoenaed the banking account of a "Mrs. Gertrude King" from the same bank, apparently under the impression that she was Mrs. Cecil King. Mrs. Gertrude B. King had heavy deposits reportedly from a trust fund, and the U. S. attorney's office really thought they had something. They were disappointed to find, however, that she was not the wife of a congressman, but the wife of a government official in Washington, D. C.

Meanwhile, U. S. Attorney Waters is reported to be persevering. He was formerly a member of the California legislature and as such was chairman of the committee which gerrymandered Congressman King's 17th district so that King had to move his home.

What Waters did was to chop the district up so that two isolated blocks, including King's home, were placed his election district. As a result, the congressman had to move. And one of the matters which the U. S. attorney's office is now investigating is where King got the money to acquire a new home.

U. S. Attorney Waters' activities have gone so far that he recently attended a political rally in Manhattan Beach where he sat beside the Republican candidate who is opposing King, Mr. Robert Finch. Significantly Finch had previously indicated he would not run for Congress. But after the U. S. attorney started the grand jury investigation of King, Finch suddenly changed his mind and entered the race. Now he has the public support of the U. S. attorney at political rallies, as well as the private support of his office.

HATCH ACT VIOLATED?
Justice Department officials in Washington, when queried, expressed the opinion that Waters' attendance at a political rally aimed at defeating King, the man he was attempting to prosecute, was not a violation of the Hatch Act since Waters is not under civil service.

No. 4 — Last move by California Republicans to embarrass the Democrats is the subpoenaing of Bert Coffey, a member of the California Democratic Central committee by the Un-American Activities committee. Coffey has made no secret of his membership in the party prior to 1946 at which time he withdrew. However, Congressman Donald Jackson of Los Angeles, a member of the Un-American Activities committee, has initiated a move to call Coffey for cross-examination regarding his past.

Democratic congressmen from California are frank in calling this carefully planned strategy "political persecution." They attribute it, however, not to the Justice Department in Washington but to the Nixon-Hillings machine in California, which operates under the astute aegis of Murray Chottner, campaign manager for Vice President Nixon and Congressman Pat Hillings.

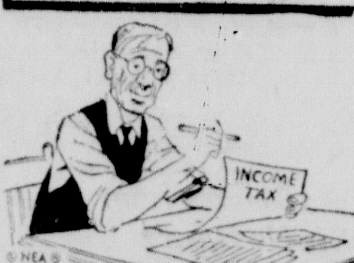

TWO JOHNSONS
Gus Johnson, the 76-year-old treasurer of the state of California, a Republican, is hoping mad because another Johnson has challenged him for re-election. Hitherto, not many people have bothered to run for treasurer of California, and Gus Johnson has considered the job more or less his personal preserve.

As he has grown older — and more cantankerous — Gus Johnson has more and more run his job as if working for himself; and when serving under Governor Earl Warren, was bitterly anti-Warren. When, therefore, he heard that a Democrat named George E. Johnson was challenging him for re-election, Gus Johnson nearly hit the ceiling.

"I'm going to find out the name of that — a Greek before he came to the United States," he told a friend, referring to the fact that George E. Johnson, a Sacramento restaurant man, is of Greek origin.

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS:

William Jennings Bryan

By JOHN W. ALLEN

Southern Illinois University

When his father and mother went to the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia, their 16-year-old son decided to attend a national political convention. Although he did not have a pass to assure admission to the convention hall, he did, however, have an effective smile that won the cooperation of a friendly policeman who helped him into the hall by the way of a window.

The national convention was that of the Democratic party being held at St. Louis in the summer of 1876, and the young man crawling through the window was William Jennings Bryan, whose birthday anniversary is March 19. This was his first, but by no means his last, attendance at a national political convention.

The youth was greatly impressed by the men of national prominence he saw there. He was like-wise impressed by their able and persuasive speeches and also by the glimpses of the broad workings of democracy that the occasion afforded.

Born at Salem

However, young Bryan could not have dreamed that within a comparatively few years he would appear as the dominant figure at a similar convention, make one of the most noted political speeches in the nation's history, and be nominated as candidate for the presidency, the youngest such candidate of a major political party.

Bryan was born at Salem in Marion county, Illinois, on March 19, 1856, the son of Silas Lillard and Mariah Jennings Bryan. His birthplace is still standing, well-stocked with mementos that recall events of his life-time. Located on a main street about three blocks south of the square in Salem the home is visited by many people.

When William was five or six years old his father bought a large farm adjoining the town on the northwest. Here the elder Bryan fulfilled a boyhood dream by building a large dwelling of bricks made a short way north of the building site. He also built a fine set of outbuildings and enclosed fourteen acres southeast of the dwelling as a deer park.

It was the practice of the father, while the building operations were under way, to drive out often and observe the progress being made. On one of these trips young William was allowed to place bricks on a small piece of board and carry them to the masons, thus helping to build the house.

Christian Home

It was on this farm and about this spacious home that William grew to young manhood. It was also here that he received his elementary education, his mother being the teacher. Bryan records that she was a rather stern and exacting teacher, evidently a believer in the philosophy expressed by the old adage, "Spare the rod and spoil the child." William also helped with the farm work and with the daily chores.

The Bryan home was a devoutly Christian one, family worship services being held regularly three times daily. In later life William spoke of this family custom and indicated the pleasure that the memories of those occasions afforded him. Considering this practice in the Bryan home it is not difficult to understand the deeply religious cast of William's thinking.

When 15-years old, William was sent to Whipple Academy in Jacksonville. He continued in attendance at the academy and at the college there until 1881, when he was graduated as valedictorian of his class.

Admitted to Bar in 1883

The next two years were spent in attendance at Union College of Law or in reading law in the office of Lyman Trumbull, both located in Chicago. He was admitted to the bar in time to open an office in Jacksonville on July 4, 1883. After four years there, with reasonable success, Bryan made a trip to Lincoln, Nebraska, liked the western town and decided to move to it.

He was successful in his law practice in Lincoln, but was more successful in politics and on the lecture platform. His success in these fields led him to practically abandon law when he was elected to the national house of representatives in 1890. In 1894 Bryan was defeated in a contest for a seat in the United States senate and shortly thereafter became the editor of a paper. At about this time Bryan began to attract national attention as a platform speaker.

In 1896 he was a delegate to the national convention of the Democrats in Chicago. The question of using silver, along with gold, as a basis for our national currency was before the country. Bryan was one of the staunchest advocates of the plan. Appearing before the convention to advance the cause of silver, he captivated the audience with his famous "Cross of Gold" speech, which he climaxed with the memorable sentence, "You shall not press down upon the brow of labor this crown of thorns, you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold."

Plan to Dismantle Ruins

The setting for this speech could not have been better arranged. The crowd was electrified. Five

Maxine Sullivan Hostess To Pontiac, Michigan Club

The Pontiac, Michigan Sewing club held its March meeting at the home of Maxine Sullivan, former resident of Carrier Mills.

Two of the members, Helen Blue and Mary Russell, resigned from the club, much to the regret of the other members.

Prizes were won by Shirley Motinger, Glenna Lee Jamerson, Venita Lewis, and Maxine Hamby, who won the door prize.

Delicious refreshments were served to Mary Sweat, Jarry Cushist, Blanch Thompson, a guest, and to those mentioned before.

Nebraska has a larger percentage of its land in farms than any other state of the Union.

President of Chapter Z, P. E. O., Appoints New Committees

Mrs. John Cape was hostess to Chapter Z, P. E. O., Friday afternoon, March 26, for its regular meeting, with the new president, Mrs. Lloyd L. Parker, presiding.

As the meeting opened, Mrs. G. C. Benson gave a lovely tribute in remembrance of Mrs. D. B. McGehee.

Mrs. Parker welcomed a guest, little Miss Randy Wilson of Rantoul, granddaughter of Mrs. C. E. Taylor, who delighted the group with a vocal solo.

During the business session, it was voted to make a contribution to the Red Cross.

Mrs. Parker appointed the following committees to serve for the coming year: Program, Mary Metcalf, Myrtle Combe, Elsie Durham, Helen Jackson and Hellen Miller; refreshment, Nellie Rude, Dora Capel, Kathleen Montgomery and Bernice Herrmann; courtesy, Bernice Benson and Helen Parker; philanthropic, Hortense Muge, Helen Rathbone and Ethel Kane, finance, Myrna Towle, Edith Taylor, Wilma Travelstead and Martha Capel; auditing, Grace Ozment and Barbara Henley; telephone, Bernice Durham, Ethel Thompson; history, Myrtle Combe; Illinois P. E. O. home, Elsie Durham; entertainment, Margaret Funkhouser, Betty Sullivan, Mary Jeanette Parker and Hazel Lehman; Educational fund, Martha Capel, Dorothy Polk and Margaret Hauptmann; Cottee College, Martha Dixon, Carla Cape and Sibyl Whitely; by-laws, Louise Whitchurch, Anna Marie Coleman and Mary Collier; publicity, Gladys Bottomley; pianists, Mary Jeanette Parker and Wilma Travelstead; and peace participation, Mary Jean Jackson and Grace Collier.

Twenty-five years ago Mrs. C. E. Combe held the office of state organizer and had received a number of invitations to attend Silver anniversaries being celebrated by chapters she had organized during her term of office.

The program chairman presented Mrs. G. C. Benson, who gave an interesting talk on Cottee College at Nevada, Mo., which is entirely supported by P. E. O. She traced its beginning, purpose, change and development that have taken place through the year. It is now a full fledged junior college, and plans are being formulated for a new chapel at the college, a gift of the B. I. L.'s.

An open forum, led by Mrs. Combe, on the local educational fund, brought out interesting facts and proved especially informative to the newer members.

Peace Participation, a comparatively new committee with P. E. O., was explained and discussed by Miss Mary Jean Jackson, chairman of the committee. P. E. O.'s desire to work together for peace and to help build a better world was expressed. The motto, "Think, pray and work for peace," was also expressed.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The April 9 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Richard Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Read, Washington, Ind., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Kimmel in this city. The Kimmels also had with them their daughter, Frances, who teaches in Springfield, Ill.

There are numerous stories of buried treasure along the Ohio River in Southern Illinois. One site for such a story is at a large spring on the Gullet farm about two miles north of Golconda. Treasure seekers with various types of "divining rods" sometimes appear seeking the buried treasure.—(SIU)

Wheel and Distaff D. A. R. Committee Has Meeting

The Wheel and Distaff committee of the D. A. R. met Wednesday, March 24, at the home of Mrs. Ron Mitchell Jr.

After the opening devotion by Mrs. Charles Ford Jr., the committee made final plans for the card party which is to be held to-night at the Kurto Country club. Mrs. Harold Kingery is in charge of the lighting; Mrs. Thomas Wolf and Mrs. Ron Mitchell, tally; Mrs. Mary Lou Parker and Mrs. Herman Boatright, tickets; Mrs. Pat Sullivan, advertising; Mrs. Charles Ford and Mrs. Victor Humm, decorations.

During the business session the committee voted to order tallies, note paper, and stationery to sell to the members.

After the meeting the members enjoyed playing cards and delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Mitchell.

First Baptist Helen Scherer Circle Meets

The Helen Scherer circle of the First Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Mima Woolard for the regular March meeting recently with eight members present and one visitor.

After the regular business session the program chairman was in charge. The devotion was given by Mrs. Roy Rievely who took her scripture from John 1:1-50. She also read a poem entitled "The Secret."

Mrs. Daisy Rude gave the topic, "Can We Win the Jew?", and Mrs. Stanley Price talked on the topic "Is This Community Mission?"

The community mission project for this month was helping with the prayer service at the First Baptist Mission, and the circle will have charge of the royal service program this month.

The meeting was closed with prayer led by Mrs. Merle Guard. Refreshments were then served.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Sisk.

Crescent Home Bureau Unit Plans Candy Sale

Mrs. Gene Irvin and Mrs. Carl Woolcott were co-hostesses to the Crescent Home Bureau unit Thursday evening.

During the business session the new by-laws were read and plans were made for a homemade candy sale to be held April 15, with Mrs. Paul Vinyard as chairman of arrangements.

Mrs. Ronald Coon discussed "Program Planning," the minor topic, and Mrs. Vinyard presented the major lesson, "How to Select Paint for Floors, Walls and Woodwork." The national prize-winning essay, "I Speak for Democracy," was read to the group.

Door prize was awarded to Mrs. James Moore, and Mrs. Roger Taylor won the game prize.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Edgar Price, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Ward Woolard, Mrs. Cecil Harris, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Coon, Mrs. C. Wayne Brown, Mrs. Frank Jarrell, Mrs. Howard Coyle, Mrs. Alonzo Shewmake Jr., Mrs. Theola Patten, Mrs. Bob Frantz, Mrs. Jim Johnson, Mrs. Vinyard and Mrs. Jim Stunson.

Pictures were taken during the day, and in the late afternoon, Freeman and family and Mrs. Betty Nolen left for Pontiac, Mich.

Witnesses Say They Saw No Ransom Money

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (AP)—Little new light was shed on the mystery of the missing Greenlease kidnapping ransom money today as the perjury trial of St. Louis policeman Elmer Dolan entered its second day.

Four men and a woman testified Monday they saw kidnaper Carl Austin Hall brought to a St. Louis precinct station for booking, but none of them saw any trace of suitcases containing the record $600,000 ransom.

Dolan helped arrest Hall for the kidnap-murder of little Bobby Greenlease, son of a wealthy Kansas City auto agency owner.

Dolan and his superior, former Lt. Louis Shoulders, both told a grand jury they brought two suitcases into the Newcomb Avenue police station with Hall. Shoulders, also indicted for perjury, will be tried April 12.

More than half of the ransom money is missing.

Desk Cpl. Raymond Bergmeier, who booked Hall, was the principal government witness. He said he booked Hall at 8:57 p. m. last Oct. 6, and listed his personal property. Bergmeier said he didn't see the suitcases.

Officers Karl Shottler, Alexander McGee and Thomas Crowe, all St. Louis policemen, testified they didn't see the suitcases. Miss Barbara Cupp, who said she was waiting to see a prisoner when Hall was brought in, testified she didn't see the black and green bags in which Hall had the money.

Charges AMA with Half-Truths on VA Hospital Program

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., (AP)—National Commander Arthur Connell of the American Legion Monday night renewed that organization's dispute with the American Medical Assn. with a charge the AMA was using "half-truths" in its opposition to the veterans' hospital program.

Speaking to a Legion audience at Indiana university, Connell declared the AMA was "asking for a fight and they're going to get it."

The commander said the AMA claims veterans with non-service connected illnesses are going into Veterans Administration hospitals when they could afford private care.

Connell said the medical group last year turned down a Legion proposal they make an investigation of patients' ability to pay. "Well, we have gone ahead with our survey, and after interviewing more than 5,000 patients in 36 hospitals we find that less than 2 per cent show the slightest indication of being able to afford private hospitalization," Connell declared.

Frost Warnings Worry Peach Growers

CARBONDALE, Ill., (AP)—Southern Illinois peach growers worried today about warnings of low temperatures which might freeze blooming orchards which escaped frost damage Monday night.

The Weather Bureau forecast frost or freezing temperatures with lows of 25 to 30 degrees in the southern portion of the state.

Harold Hartley, secretary of the Illinois Fruit Growers Council, said temperatures did not drop low enough Monday night to damage the orchards, which are 85 to 100 per cent in bloom.

Hartley said there was danger of frost damage tonight, however, on the basis of the forecast.

The first president of Southern Illinois University was Dr. Robert Allyn, a Methodist minister and former president of McKendree College. He served 18 years at Carbondale.—(SIU)

Sentence War Vet For Refusal to Register for Draft

CHICAGO — John Forbes, 27, who enlisted in the Army at the end of World War II, went to jail for three years today for refusing to register for the draft in a routine procedure.

Forbes, who has become a pacifist, said "my conscience directs me to oppose the government when it takes an evil course."

He collapsed on the floor of a federal courtroom Monday when Judge John P. Barnes pronounced sentence. When the defendant refused to rise, six deputy marshals dragged him to the elevator and then to the lockup.

Speed Final Action on Cut In Excise Taxes

By United Press
Congress was set to complete action today on a billion-dollar cut in federal excise taxes.

The House approved the final draft of the bill barely an hour after convening at noon. Final Senate action was scheduled later in the day.

The measure will mean slightly lower prices on household appliances, jewelry, furs, cosmetics, and a host of other things on which the federal government collects an excise sales tax. President Eisenhower was expected to sign it in time for the cuts to be effective on Thursday.

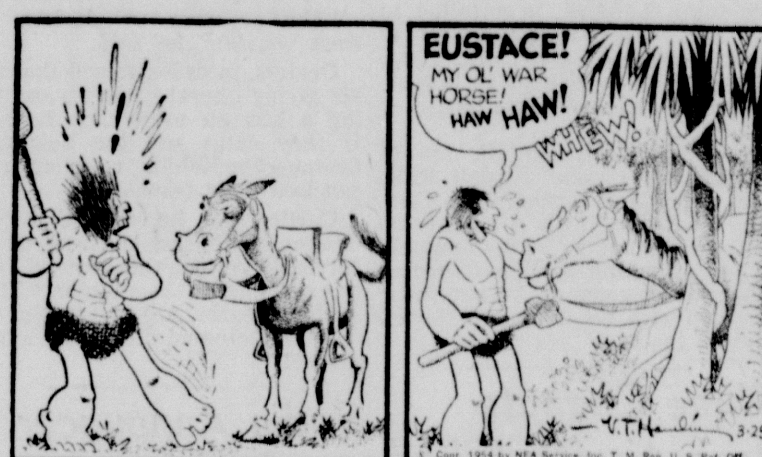

Fast action was called for because, at the same time, the bill continues some levies on automobiles, gasoline, liquor, beer, wine and cigarettes which otherwise would drop automatically on April 1.

The loss to the treasury from this bill, slightly under one billion dollars, was still a little less than the $1,077,000,000 involved if the automatic cuts should be allowed to go into effect.

Other congressional news: Taft-Hartley: The House Labor Committee approved three of President Eisenhower's proposals to change in the Taft-Hartley Labor Management Act. The amendments would require employers as well as union officials to file non-Communist affidavits; bar reopening of negotiations during contract except by mutual agreement or under a reopening clause; prohibit recognition election during a strike.

Welfare: Welfare Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby urged Congress to approve a "dynamic" program to rehabilitate more of the "vast backlog of physically handicapped persons." The Senate Labor Committee is considering the administration's plan to boost the present program.

Gov't to Print First New Map Since 1941

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States acquired a new look today—in color.

The new dress is the first official map of the country since 1941. It was unveiled before Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay, other department officials, and appropriate news cameras.

The new map—in nine colors—is making a belated appearance. Congress ordered a map printed in 1880 with re-issues every two years. This schedule was followed for many years. But after the 1941 map, what with a shooting war, a cold war, and the Korean imbroglio, the project got lost in the shuffle.

The 1941 edition last was printed in 1948. For several years Congress didn't appropriate any money to re-issue the map or prepare a new one. But the legislators changed this on June 1, 1953, by adopting a resolution authorizing a new map.

Colossal Job
So the bureau of land management put it together and the geological survey printed it on the largest map press the government owns.

The job of printing the map is colossal. The map is so big—seven by five feet—that it must be printed in halves. Each half must take nine exacting trips through the press—one trip for each color. This means that for a whole map, 18 impressions must be made.

The first printing of the map will run 40,000 copies. Later printings undoubtedly will run into hundreds of thousands of copies. Interior Department officials believe the big map will become a best seller, despite the $4 price.

The first 30,000 maps are scheduled for members of Congress. The senators and representatives probably will give most of them to schools, libraries, or just plain constituents—at the expense of all taxpayers.

Map Ready by April 10
The new map shows an up-to-date America with state boundaries, cities, towns, rivers, railroads, national parks, Indian reservations, and outlying territories and possessions. It affords a quick view of public land development, indicating the extent of the rectangular system of surveys over the public domain. No other map has this feature.

A series of inset charts give accurate descriptions of Alaska, Guam, American Samoa, The Hawaiian Islands, Puerto Rico, The Virgin Islands, and the Panama Canal Zone. The old map showed the Philippine Islands; the new one doesn't because the islands are independent and no longer a possession.

Much of the detail of earlier editions is carried in the new look. It gives the record of westward movement from the original 13 states, and land acquisitions such as the Louisiana Purchase, Annexation of Texas, the Gadsden Purchase, The Spanish-American compromise, and the Oregon Territory.

The government printing office expects to have the map ready for sale by April 10.

Young Marine, Sweetheart Live Two Weeks in Home After Killing Mother

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—which was obtained after 20 minutes' questioning by New York police officers who came here, the same house with the body of Byers first struck Mrs. Gresh with the girl's mother whom he had murdered when she caught them in bed together.

The Marine, Pvt. William D. Byers, 17, had encased the woman's body in plaster of paris and jammed it in a laundry tub, according to the Marine Corps public information office at this recruit training depot which released details of the youth's confession Monday.

Byers, of New York, confessed stabbing Mrs. Anna Gresh, 43, to death March 4 at the woman's New York home when she surprised him and Mrs. Gresh's 15-year-old daughter, Theresa, in bed. Joined Marines 9 Days Ago

According to the confession,

The body was found, covered with plaster of paris, in Mrs. Gresh's home last Friday. Beer cans littered the apartment, police said, including several in the room with the body.

Byers admitted living with Theresa for two weeks after the killing. He joined the Marine Corps nine days ago and was sent here for his "boot" training.

The youth was placed in a maximum security cell to be held for extradition to New York.

Third Tragedy By C119's

From the direction the plane appeared, it was believed it had passed over the troop area from nearby Pope Air Force Base and was heading south on its takeoff for a flight to Louisville, Ky.

Officers said the aircraft was attached to the 37th Troop Carrier Wing at Stewart Air Force Base, Tenn.

Today's crash was the third tragedy involving a C119 troop carrier plane within five months. Last Nov. 17, a "Flying Boxcar" with a load of jumping paratroopers slashed through a mass paratroop drop and crashed, killing 15 men.

On March 11 two paratroopers were killed and about 70 injured in exercise "Long Thrust," another mass drop of paratroopers from C119 "Flying Boxcars."

Twenty Fort Bragg soldiers were drowned last Sept. 2 when a pontoon boat overturned on a lake during a training exercise here.

East German Reds Ban Western Military Missions

BERLIN (AP)—The East German Communists announced today that Western military missions will no longer be permitted to operate in the Soviet Zone.

East German Deputy Premier Walter Ulbricht made the announcement in a five-hour speech at the opening of a week-long congress of the Soviet Zone Communist Party.

It appeared from the announcement that only the 10 Western nations which maintain military missions in Berlin will be affected.

Apparently the ban did not apply to the United States, British and French military missions accredited to Soviet headquarters at Potsdam.

The countries which maintain military missions here are Australia, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, Greece, India, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Norway and South Africa.

Ulbricht announced that activities of these missions in the Soviet Zone must cease because the Soviets granted "sovereignty" to East Germany last week.

But he hastened to add that the East Zone Communists were ready to establish normal diplomatic consular and trade relations with all countries.

THE MOVE TO MODERN LIVING

See why the trend is growing to the 1954 Lincoln

The facts are simple: Lincoln is the one fine car whose sales have more than doubled in two short years.

There are good reasons why this trend keeps growing. The great new Lincoln for 1954 is the most dramatic edition of the car that started the big change in American motorists' ideas about fine cars.

Take, for instance, Lincoln's new styling—from the stunning new grille to the crisp, new rear deck and distinctive new taillights. It is a completely new design—akin to the ground-hugging, functional look found wherever the living is modern. Note, too, how well

Lincoln's new colors and fabrics go with Lincoln's new styling: dramatic new shades in nylons, gabardines, and leathers.

Above all you have incredible performance. Lincoln's world-famous V-8 engine has the new automatic 4-barrel carburetor—gives you superbly controlled action at all times. Add to all this the optional features—power steering, power brakes, the 4-way power seat and electric power window lifts—and driving becomes practically effortless. You'll know what we mean the moment you drive a wonderful new 1954 Lincoln or Lincoln Capri.

Performance proof: Lincoln again won 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th places over all stock cars in the 1,912-mile Mexican Pan-American Road Race.

H-Bomb Results Unbelievable, Wilson Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson today described results of recent H-bomb tests as "unbelievable." He said they demonstrated the mounting peril facing any aggressor who attacks the United States.

Wilson discussed the Pacific tests reluctantly at a news conference following announcement by the Atomic Energy Commission that the second hydrogen explosion of the current series was set off March 26.

Wilson was asked whether the tests showed it would be more dangerous now for an aggressor to attack this country.

He replied "Yes, sir."

Amplifying his comment that the hydrogen explosions were "unbelievable," Wilson said the H-bomb now bears the same relationship to the atomic bomb as the A-bomb did to TNT.

"Improvements are being made on it continually," he added, in both the means of handling and in explosive force.

It is estimated that Great Britain receives an average of 22,000,000 tons of water annually in the form of dew.

Asks FTC Probe Of GM-Ford Production Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Shepard J. Crumpacker Jr., (R-Ind.) charged today that the great production battle between General Motors and Ford is driving other producers out of business.

He said he planned to introduce legislation today to direct the Federal Trade Commission to investigate whether anti-trust laws are being violated and whether new laws are needed to control the "lust for leadership."

"For the first time in the history of the automotive industry," Crumpacker said in a speech prepared for House delivery, "it appears that General Motors and Ford have set out to monopolize the field."

Harlow H. Curtice, president of GM, issued an immediate denial.

"As far as General Motors is concerned," he said, "there is no production war in the automotive industry."

Crumpacker said that GM and Ford production has increased in 1954, while production of others has fallen off.

He told a reporter that GM and Ford are "forcing" cars on their dealers whether they can sell them at a profit or not.

"The pressure on dealers has been terrific," he said.

Dealers, in order to sell the cars, are giving liberal trade-ins and taking a loss on used cars, he said. If they don't sell the new cars, Crumpacker told a reporter, they can lose their franchise.

Curtice said, however, that "production of General Motors products currently reflect the demand from our customers. As a matter of fact, dealers stocks are currently less than anticipated for the spring market."

Radio Announcer Ejected from School Hearing

MAROA, Ill. (AP)—The Maroa School Board Monday night listed 15 charges against the district's dismissed superintendent after ejecting a radio announcer from its public hearing.

The board hearing was intended to explain to the public the reasons for dismissal of W. D. Keyes, superintendent of Maroa Community Unit Schools.

The board last Wednesday voted to give Keyes a week to resign. But the board met again Sunday and voted to dismiss Keyes, effective at the end of the school year, May 28.

The meeting Monday was scheduled to start at 7:30 p. m. but was delayed while the board tried to expel Harold J. Jensen, announcer for Decatur Station WSOY, who had come to the meeting with a tape recorder.

When Jensen refused to leave, members of the board tried to reach station officials, then called the sheriff's office for deputies. Later station officials were reached and Jensen left unwillingly.

Jensen told the crowd of 200 he was leaving "under protest" and the crowd cheered. Board Atty. Thomas A. Armstrong said the proceedings should not be broadcast for the "amusement and entertainment" of persons not affected by the board's action.

The 15 charges against Keyes included misrepresentation of facts, negligence of duty and insubordination in his relations with the school board. The board refused to allow any discussion of the charges by members of the audience.

Keyes said he intends to ask for a public hearing on the dismissal as provided by law.

Air Force Academy Bill Goes to White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House gave a final endorsement late Monday to legislation authorizing the Air Force to build its own academy, comparable to the Army's at West Point and the Navy's at Annapolis.

The bill now goes to the White House for the President's signature, which is assured.

Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott will select the site with the help of a commission which he will appoint. Up to 126 million dollars can be spent on the new service school.

Israel Blamed for Raid on Jordan Killing Nine Arabs

JERUSALEM, Jordan (AP)—The impartial American chairman of the Mixed Armistice Commission accused Israel today of engineering a raid on a Jordanian village that took nine Arab lives.

Jordan Radio said U. S. Navy Cmdr. E. H. Hutchison used extremely severe language in finding Israel guilty in the attack that threatens the five-year-old Holy War truce.

The commission fixed the blame on Israel at an emergency meeting which was boycotted by the Israeli delegates.

Hutchison asked Jordan to refrain from attacking Israelis in retaliation for the pre-dawn raid on the Jordanian town of Nahalin, located only six miles from the birthplace of Jesus Christ at Bethlehem.

Logan, Horace Mann Win City School Titles

Logan and Horace Mann won the city grade school basketball titles in games played yesterday afternoon at the Junior high school gymnasium.

Logan whipped Bayliss, 31-15, for the 5th grade championship, and Horace Mann outlasted Dorrisville, 35-30, to capture the 6th grade trophy.

Victories yesterday brought both Logan and Horace Mann undefeated seasons.

Logan advanced to the finals by downing Horace Mann's 5th graders, 37-17, last Friday. Dorris Heights bowed to Horace Mann's 6th grade club, 39-12, also on Friday, in a semi-final game.

Scoring in yesterday's championship tiffs:

LOGAN—Henshaw 9, Carnett 3, Groves 4, Hopkins 8, Webster 4, Goin 3. BAYLISS—Potter 2, Owens 3, Hill 6, LeMastus 4, Upchurch 0.

HORACE MANN—Feazel 3, Gregg 10, Tabor 20, Baldwin 2, Seten 0. DORRISVILLE—Goolsby 11, York 10, Stockich 7, Lyon 2, Wright 0.

RHUMBA OR WALTZ?

Olson is Picked to Beat Kid Gavilan

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

TAMPA, Fla.—(NEA)—In Tampa, it is extremely difficult for a guy who likes cigars to be objective in picking the winner of the Bobo Olson-Kid Gavilan middleweight championship fight at the Chicago Stadium, April 2.

There are more Cuban cigar makers in Tampa and Ybor City than there are ballplayers training in Florida. They hand you a bonus-length cigar Havana, and then quickly ask: "Who wene the fight?"

Gavilan Keed, he beat up other fella bad, huh?"

You'd like to go along with them, but once you get out in the clear air, the notion persists that Olson fights too many minutes for Gavilan, who has reached the stage where he prefers to stalk and stall.

Yes, I am afraid that the balding, but rough and tough Olson is going to break a lot of cheroot manufacturers.

It's an exciting match between a buzz saw with a well-oiled motor and an intermittent alarm clock.

only this trip Gavilan won't have time to watch the clock. And as Paddy Young and Randy Turpin will testify, 15 rounds is a mighty long distance with Olson pouring punches all the way along the route.

It is no state secret that Manager Sid Flaherty jumped at the chance to get Gavilan for Olson. Gavilan, an overbuilt welter, has been beaten and pressed by rather ordinary performers, doesn't like to be crowded. He is spitting Olson several pounds. The Hawaiian Portuguese Swede, unbeaten in more than three years, has everything running for him.

Olson has every combination in the book and uses them liberally. He feints, fires, feints again and then throws some more. Not that he is a sitting duck, but he can take it like Battling Nelson and he never stops working at his trade, which is giving the other bloke a dreadful musing up. He fights very well from the outside, but does the most damage in.

Gavilan would have to be just plain nuts to slug it out over a long stretch on the inside. So you can expect to see him dancing and jabbing, using the ring, and trying to catch Olson coming in. When Olson does get in at head-to-head range, watch for the Cubanola to clinch. Because Olson is the heavier and stronger, that will become very tiring, too.

Olson is not cracked up to be much of anything, if you listen to most. One will say he can't punch, another tells you his style leaves him cold. Yet we saw him completely nullify sturdy Paddy Young's body attack and put Randy Turpin on the floor twice. His punches may not put the other fellow down at once, but they take their toll. He comes up from each bob punching and sticks a very aggravating right to the liver every chance he gets. That's an old-time punch and he is an old-time fighter. If this seems to be leaning sharply to Bobo Olson, you're right.

Hospital Cashier Admits $267,000 Embezzlement

NEW YORK (AP)—A conscience-stricken cashier-accountant at Manhattan State Hospital walked into a police station today and confessed he had embezzled $267,000 over a five-year period and squandered it all on the horses.

Police identified him as Alexander P. Maran, 37, married and the father of a 15-year-old son. He was booked on charges of grand larceny.

Maran confessed, police said, that he embezzled an average of $1,000 a week during the last five years. His yearly salary was $4,100, police said, but he lived in a sumptuous courtyard apartment in Brooklyn.

Maran told police he fled to Miami when he found out state auditors planned a routine check of his accounts. But after thinking it over he returned here Monday night and gave himself up.

He said he took $247,000 from hospital funds and $20,000 from the hospital's community store, a canteen for patients and staff members.

Maran told police he placed frequent bets on the races but seldom came up with a winner.

Major League Pitchers Ready For Openers

By United Press
Fifteen of the 16 pitchers who will be honored with opening day assignments two weeks hence were just about set today, with only Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs in a bit of a quandary.

The world champion New York Yankees will have 34-year old southpaw Ed Lopat on the mound when they open against the Washington Senators while Manager Walt Alston of the National league champion Brooklyn Dodgers is expected to name Don Newcombe to start the campaign against the New York Giants. Seven of this year's opening day hurlers also opened the 1953 season and four started their teams off with victories.

Tebbetts said he would open "with a veteran pitcher other than Fred Baczewski," who has been selected to work the second game of the season against the Chicago Cubs, but Bud Poddiebian is the favorite.

Probable Pitchers
The probable opening day pitching lineup as learned via a survey of the 16 managers (1953 records are in parentheses):

American League
New York (Ed Lopat 16-4) at Washington (Bob Porterfield 22-10); Boston (Mel Parnell 21-8) at Philadelphia (Alex Kellner 12); Cleveland (Bob Lemon 21-15) at Chicago (Billy Pierce 18-12); Baltimore (Bob Turley 2-6) at Detroit (Steve Gromek 7-9).

National League
Brooklyn (Don Newcombe 0-0) at New York (Sal Maglie 8-9); Philadelphia (Robin Roberts 23-16) at Pittsburgh (Bob Friend 8-11 or Max Surkont 11-5); Chicago (Bob Rush 9-14) at St. Louis (Harvey Haddix 20-9); Milwaukee (Warren Spahn 23-7) at Cincinnati (Bud Poddiebian 6-16).

Rush, rapidly rounding into peak form for his assignment, turned in six shutout innings against the Baltimore Orioles Monday but Lemon, the only other opening day pitcher to work, was a disappointment against the New York Giants.

Cardinals Win, 4-3
Rush's fine pitching was wasted, however, when the Orioles hopped on Howie Pollet for three runs in the ninth inning to score a 4-3 victory and score their 15th victory in 12 Grapefruit league games.

Lemon, however, was tagged for seven hits and two runs in four innings as the Giants downed Cleveland, 4-1, and opened up an 8-2 bulge in their 23rd game spring series with the Indians.

It was a great day for Eddie Yost, who hammered out three home runs to lead the Washington Senators to a 12-8 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The St. Louis Cardinals collected three of their four hits in the first inning and went on to beat the Chicago White Sox, 4-3, for their 13th win in 21 exhibition games while Ted Kluszewski's two-run homer in the ninth enabled the Cincinnati Redlegs to overcome an 8-1 deficit and downed the Yankees, 9-8.

In other games, the Philadelphia Phillies routed the Dodgers, 19-5, and the Milwaukee Braves scored a 12-4 romp over Macon of the Sally league.

Mackovjak and Rollins Mentioned On Prowell Squad

The Champaign News-Gazette's 22nd annual All-State high school basketball team, picked by sports editor Jack Prowell, has been announced.

Only two Saline county players were given mention. They are Paul Mackovjak of Eldorado and Oliver Rollins, Carrier Mills. Both are centers.

An unusual feature of this season's pick is that six players are placed on the first team. The selections included two forwards—Charles Brown, Du Sable and Tom Payne, Quincy; two centers, Archie Dees, Mt. Carmel and Ted Calazza, La Grange; two guards, Paxton Lumpkin, Du Sable and Albert Avant, Mt. Vernon.

Southern Illinois players getting mention on other teams were: Larry Breyfogle, Lawrenceville; Gene Pursell, Pinckneyville; Bobby Mason, Centralia and Don Ohl, Edwardsville, all on the second team and Bob Gregor, Edwardsville, fifth team.

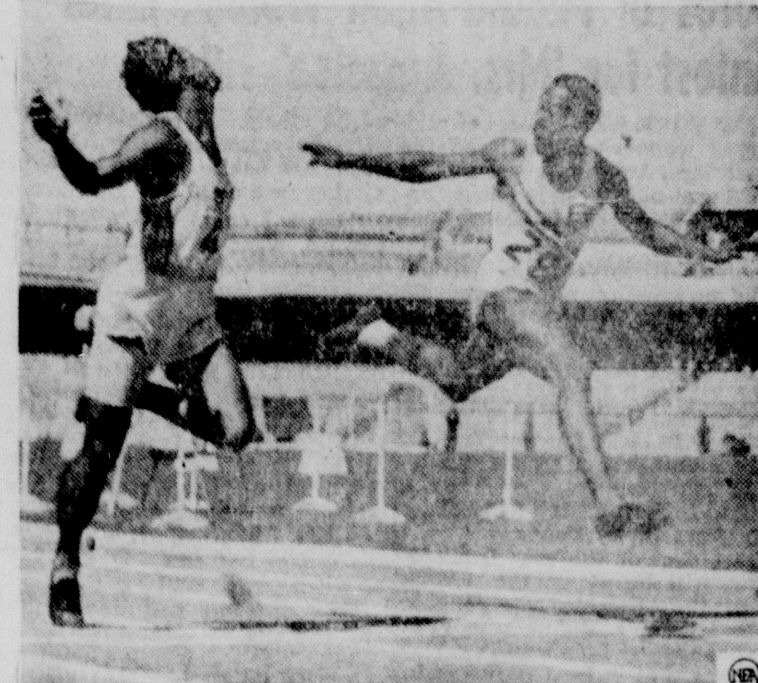

The special mention list included John Brooks, Lawrenceville; Don Groves, Marion; Dick Howe, Carbondale; George Marcum, Centralia; Dean Millenbine, McLeansboro; Larry Odum, Marion; Marion Rushing, Pinckneyville; Don Richards, Mt. Vernon and Larry Whitlock, Mt. Vernon.

Hack Named Cubs Manager; Cavarretta Had No Faith In Team, Wrigley Says

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Chicago Cubs owner Phil Wrigley said he removed Phil Cavarretta as manager when he learned Cavarretta appeared to "dread" the coming season and apparently had little hope for the Cubs' 1954 prospects.

Cavarretta was fired Monday night and replaced by Manager Stan Hack of the Los Angeles Angels.

Wrigley said he was "very disappointed" over the seventh place finish of the Cubs last year.

"We may not have the best club in baseball," Wrigley said, "but I don't think we have the worst. Hack apparently thinks the ball club is better than it appears to Cavarretta."

He added that following an exhibition game with the Giants, he realized Phil was not optimistic about the Cubs' prospects.

Wrigley said he offered Cavarretta the chance to switch jobs with Hack and take over the Angels, but Phil refused. He added that personally he was "very fond" of Cavarretta and would be happy if he wished to stay with the Cubs' organization.

Promoted From Farm Club
"Phil was a great team man, but was withdrawn and kept things built up inside him," the Chicago owner said.

Wrigley declined to say what salary Hack would get.

He said Hack would get the proper sort of background he felt a manager should have. "Managers should train the same as the players. They should get their grounding in the minor leagues to know their players better," Wrigley said.

Hack was promoted from the Cubs' Los Angeles farm club in what was believed to be the major leagues' first spring training managerial switch.

"I am disappointed and surprised," Cavarretta said when personnel director Wid Matthews announced Monday night that he would be given his unconditional release, when he refused to trade places with Hack at Los Angeles.

"It's a big opportunity, and I'm going to do the best I can to give the Chicago fans a good, hustling ball club," Hack said in California.

Finished Seventh Last Year
"I don't think I had it coming. I did the best I could with the material at hand," Cavarretta said.

The Cubs' manager since 1951, when he succeeded Frank Frisch in mid-season, Cavarretta never played with any other team. He came to the Cubs directly from Lane Technical High School in Chicago, where he had been an infielder and pitcher.

The Cubs finished last in 1951, moved up to fifth in 1952, but slumped to seventh last year when the team was hit by injuries.

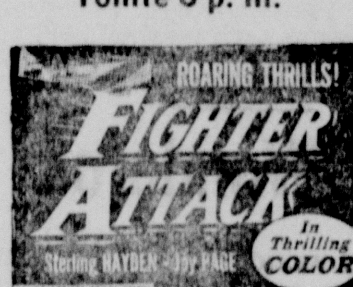

Hack was bought by the Cubs in 1952 from Sacramento of the PCL, but played only briefly in 1953 before being optioned to Albany. He returned to Chicago in 1954, and was a regular with Cavarretta until 1947, when he went to Des Moines, Iowa, in 1948, where he won the Western League pennant.

To Pay Salary In Full
Hack went to Springfield in the International League in 1950, and then to Los Angeles in 1951, where he has been since.

Cavarretta told newsmen he

Scores of Middle-Aged Women Enter Contest for 'Mrs. America' Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Scores of middle-aged women have entered the annual 'Mrs. America' contest since an 88-year-old grandmother announced two weeks ago she was out for the title.

Contest officials were astonished at the number of women over 50 who were ready to do battle against brides less than half their age.

The contest to choose Mrs. America of 1955 will be held at Ellinor Village, Fla., April 21 through 25. The woman who proves herself the best and prettiest cook, housekeeper and companion will win a free trip to Europe and $15,000.

Name Sent In By Orphan
The oldest of the new batch of entries will be 67 on the closing day of the contest. She is Mrs. W. T. Milam, a widow who runs an orphanage at Lubbock, Tex. Her name was sent in by Jimmy Lewis, 11, one of her orphans, who said she already was his 'Mrs. America.'

Jimmy reported Mrs. Milam had cared for a total of 2,700 children. Mrs. Anne Robertson, 50, Big Springs, Tex., widow, said on her application blank she had reared 23 children "on a shoe string" and knew a lot about how to stretch food supplies. In addition to three children of her own, she took care of 20 others. A registered nurse, Mrs. Robertson said she had delivered 209 babies without losing a mother or a child.

"What I could tell about food, clothes, what to put in 11 lunch pails would fill a book," she said.

Must Look Trim

Other middle-aged entries included Mrs. Margaret T. A. Mitchell, 66, Belleville, N. J., wife of an insurance clerk and mother of three children, the oldest 44; Mrs. Albert F. Volinkaty, Gaylord, Minn., wife of the county sheriff; Mrs. Edward C. Varian, 64, New Waterford, Ohio, wife of a retired mail deliverer; and Mrs. Ella Heyl, 57, Middlefield, Ohio, who said her 3-D applecake should win her first prize.

"It's delicious and double-decker," she said.

Judges of the Mrs. America contest said they were glad to have veteran home makers enter. They warned, however, that middle-aged spread would automatically disqualify a housewife.

"They don't have to be bathing beauties, but we'd like to have them look trim in a bathing suit," a contest official said. "Any home economist can tell you that if a woman is overweight she isn't a very good cook."

Original Enough?

THE STORY: Banker Atwood received an extortion note demanding payment of $1,000 just prior to the murder of Police Chief Otto Drover in Colorado City. Atwood had called the chief, who promised to drop by and pick up the note but he was stabbed as he approached the bank by two "monsters," part of a faked publicity stunt. Lieut. Mark Richards, whose honeymoon was interrupted by the murder, his best man, Private Detective Jim Dunn, and Nancy Drover, daughter of the murdered chief, had been listening to Atwood's story.

IX
Another moment and Jim and Mark were looking at the letter and envelope. Mark touched it gingerly, opened the single sheet of typing paper. The two men read silently.

Atwood: Have $4000 in small bills ready. You will get instructions later. Or do you want to die? eh? See tomorrow morning's headlines. It can happen to you, Atwood. Burn this and wait for instructions. Don't go to the police or you too will be dead dead dead.

Wild Mare.
It was neatly typed on a cheap grade of paper. The envelope was a similar quality, could be purchased in any five-and-dime store. As Atwood had reported, the name A. Aaberg appeared in the envelope's left-hand corner with Colorado City beneath for an address of return.

"We'll take this," Richards said. "I suppose you've handled it thoroughly?"

"Naturally," Atwood admitted. "At first glance there wasn't anything out of the way about it. As I told you, I've had threatening notes before, but they have come without a return address on the envelope. I naturally assumed Mr. Aaberg was writing me of a business matter. I didn't think anything was wrong until I saw how the letter started. It is not common practice, I assure you, to address me in that fashion."

Richards borrowed a Manila folder from the banker and put the letter and envelope inside. "It may not be too late. You can still let us know the instant you are contacted for the pay-off."

Atwood looked at the floor. "But I've already been contacted."

"When? How?"

"You don't have to shout," the old man complained. "I received a phone call here at six this evening. I was given instructions for the—ah—pay-off. The person who called seemed confident I would have the money ready."

"Man? Woman? What sort of voice?"

"A hissing voice. As if there were some obstruction or some deformity in the caller's mouth. I had read this morning's papers with great attention, I assure you. I read of the large, fang-like teeth the two killer used as a disguise. I—I thought the person calling had something such as that in his mouth. It frightened me still more. I can't tell you why, but it was horrible. As if, well as if something was missing, something that a normal human voice should have."

"You didn't try to trace the call?"

"Of course not."

Richards jumped to his feet. "All right, we'll take over from here. Give us the details of the pay-off, and we'll take that little chore off your hands."

Atwood did not say anything. "Hurry up, man," Richards demanded. "We've wasted too much time already. There are a thousand details to be taken care of before we're ready."

Atwood cleared his throat. "According to the directions, I took the pay-off money to the appointed place at 10 minutes of eight this evening."

Mark sat down again heavily. "You've already paid me?"

"Yes. My life is valuable to me. I did take certain precautions. I had Sweeney come from the bank, and I had him crouching down in the back seat of my car—just in case. But I saw no one."

Richards appeared speechless for the moment, so Jim put a suggestion. "Tell us what you did, Mr. Atwood."

"I followed instructions. I drove out to North Hill Road, and entered it at precisely a quarter of eight. As you may not know, but I'm sure Mr. Richards does, North Hill Road has been abandoned since the new highway was built. It is a short section which comes to a dead end. I was instructed to drive to the end, turn around, and drive back at exactly 20 miles an hour, until I reached the abandoned filling station."

"I remember it," Richards said. "Go on."

"I was not to stop or slow down. Just throw the packet of money into the driveway of the filling station, keep moving and go on home. I did that exactly."

Richards was on his feet again. "We'd better get on our way, Jim. Probably there won't be anything new. It's almost 10. But we'll go see."

"There's one thing more," Atwood said. "As I was leaving North Hill Road, a car turned into it. I recognized the car. We financed it through the bank and there are back installments due. I think the owner was driving. Carl Hardin, the real estate man. I think he was on an errand similar to my own. He drove the way I felt."

"Then there may still be time," Richards said. "Let's go."

He and Jim hurried out and Sweeney barely had time to remove the chain.

Nancy Drover stopped long enough to pat Atwood on the shoulder, and long enough to speak to Sweeney at the door. "Be careful, Sweeney. Don't you let anything happen to Uncle Pete!"

Mark stopped at headquarters long enough to mass his skimp forces for a complete blockade of the North Hill Road area.

Gov. Stratton Pays Visit to Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. William Stratton of Illinois, after a year in office, has found time to visit the nation's capital and compare notes with federal office holders.

Stratton says he isn't trying to solve any particular state problems during his visit. Rather he is talking with members of his state's congressional delegation to learn their problems. In addition he is reporting on things back home.

Stratton also is conferring with Illinois congressmen about the possibility of getting the proposed Air Force academy for his state. However, he has not yet decided whether he will try to talk personally with Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbot.

He chatted with President Eisenhower for more than an hour last Saturday at Burning Tree Club. But he said the Air Force academy was not mentioned.

Asked if politics were discussed, the governor replied: "Not particularly."

The governor plans to return home toward the end of the week, possibly Thursday.
